MARGINAL COLUMN By GBORGE LEONOP

N IKITA Khrushchev's latest by Socialist view of the minorities problem must have sent Karl Marx a-spinning in his grave. The abject failure of the Birobijan project has been apparent for more than two decades. But the Soviet Premier's "Figaro" interview last week marked the first time that a top Communist official — no less a personage than the First Secretary of the Party himself — has attempted to explain the Kremlin's disappointment in conmational characteristics of the Jews themselves.

MR. Khrushchev deserves in or credit for originality, though he may perhaps lay some claim to boldness. Hitherto high Boviet officials have refrained from publicly stating views which have long served as the basis of a semi-official smear campaign against Boviet Jewry, the "rootless cosmopolitans" of Soviet society, and which in no small measure contributed to the tragedy that culminated in the infamous "Doctors Plot." It is revealing that the Party Secretary saw fit to recall Birobijan, for the name of this hapless Far Eastern territory has become a euphemism in the Soviet Union for "anti-Semitism," a word which is taboo except in a context which denies its existnece. Birobijan does exist, however, and in more than the p hy si cal sense. Mr. Khrushchev's interview serves as a reminder that it still provides the Kremlin with a basis for the contention that Jews, the "egg-heads" of the Soviet land, are not a national entity, are disdainful of collective work and, by direct implication, represent a harmful and dangerous element.

MORE than three decades have passed since the besief Consequent in More to command a two-thirds' majority to be approved.

The few statistics that are available state that by the end of 1933 of the 19,000 Jews who ventured in which the Jews who restricted in the lews that the lews first came to Birobijan inflamed with enthusiasm there may have been was soon extinguished by the hardships encountered in the untamed wilderness, by floods, epidemics and lack of food or arrangement for the minimal conditions of a tolerable life. The few statistics that are available state that by the end of 1933 of the 19,000 Jews who ventured into the area, only 7,000 remained. And this was a period in which the Jews were still "inflamed with enthusiasm."

B-G Says Russia and U.S. Could Deter Aggression in Mid-East

NEW YORK, Tuesday (INA). — Prime Minister Ben-Gurion has no fear of Abdul Nasser's U.A.R., "provided it does not receive outside help from other powers," according to an exclusive interview published in the coming issue of "Newsweek."

The article quotes Mr. Ben-Gurion as saying Israel "might conceivably enter the Arab State on a federal or confederal basis, if there is ever any settlement between Israel and the Arabs."

The Prime Minister thought Russia "does not consciously want another world war," and expressed his opinion that the USSR would bring lasting peace in the Middle East nearer if it would make it "clear to the whole world that it really intended to preserve the terriforial integrity of all peoples in the Middle of Middl rican township.

Police were said to have fired shots and carried out baton charges after unruly crowds stoned motorists, buses and police patrols. Thirty seven other Africans received minor injuries.

The violence followed in the wake of an abortive "stay at home" protest strike called by the African Nation—al Congress against the conduct of South Africa's elections.

The bottrine is not sufficiently direct and to the point. What is needed is a new doctrine or a clear quoted as saying.

Jerusalem Post Reporter
HAIFA, Tuesday. — A local restaurant employee has complained that he sent in the only all-correct solution to the Toto football pool but did not get the IL2,500 first prize.

"Yediot Aharonot," the evening paper which runs the pool, announced on Sunday that no entries with all the 12 results guessed correctly had been received. Four persons who sent in 11 correct results shared the first prize.

Salim Said, 22 told this reporter that whea he heard the soccer results on the radio on Saturday evening, he found that he had sent an all-correct solution. He was unable to sleep all that night and got up at 3 a.m. on Sunday, expecting to be rich. When "Yedior reached Haifa, however, disappointment and consternation set in.

stood by a large part of world public opinion. It is therefore right to assume that in spite of the imminent meeting in Mos-cow, a summit conference may be as far off as ever. The last-minute decision of the NATO Defence Mi-nisters to reject the Ra-packi plan on the banning of nuclear arms in Central Europe, and its approval of the arming of Western Germany with atomic weapons, certainly does not make the prospects any brighter.

not make the prospects any brighter.

Public opinion in this country has not been very much alive to the great debate which divides the supporters and the opponents of a summit meeting, with or without adequate diplomatic preparation. However, there is no doubt that we cannot expect any miracle from the mere fact that the great of this world will meet. Their last meeting in Geneva was followed by an arms race in the Middle East, and by the intensification of the cold war in our region.

But just because miracles are not to be expected there should not be excessive apprehension either. Perhaps, as has been observed, all the trouble stems from the fact that the planned meeting is misnamed "a summit conference." This word "summit" misleads international public opinion into feeling that the success of such a conference could bring peace to the world and its failure—disaster, while probably neither the
